Are you a new or not-so-new screenwriter looking to unlock the mysteries of effective screenwriting? In this session, script and story consultant Peter A. Levy will examine the art of character development. In dramatic writing, at least one character should undergo a serious enough change. He should go from one extreme to the other. A character-driven script is a favorite among movie-goers. But how is it done? What are the elements which must be included in your script in order for a character arc to be effective? In this workshop, the following exercises will be used:

- Building the character spine
- The Psychology of character development
- Character biography
- Motivation
- Character & Story
- Drawing on personal experience
- Research

Handouts are included. Certificate of completion to all attendees. Seating is limited; Pre-Registration is recommended. Register before Friday May 14 at www.gabpc.com or email gabpc@gabpc.com to reserve your spot. For more information or to register phone, call 770.734.3380.
